Young genius and history making icon Lauryn Hill broke several records as being the first woman to overcome extraordinary milestones in an industry designed for the opposite gender. A leader and innovator, and triple threat, Lauryn created her own beat to walk and live by in many arenas. Sentenced to three months at Danbury Federal Prison Camp, she has held her own and used the experience as a stepping stone and platform to inspire others. Author Rhonda Turpin intertwines the events of her life, giving the reader a glimpse of how two lives on different paths end up with the same re-sults. After fifteen years of sparring with the music industry, and meandering through three years of harboring a federal investigation and conviction, Lauryn Hill is on her way back to the top of her game. Rhonda Turpin will keep you glued to this sto-ry, from the first page to the last.
